If he means driving the masses to the pro-life position through his extreme pro-death policies, he is right.

Perhaps Obama's extreme position on abortion has already helped the pro-life cause GREATLY. This year for the first time Gallup found 51% of Americans are pro-life and only 42% are pro-choice. This is a 32 % swing in the pro-life favor since 1995 (first poll on this) This is a very POSITIVE development, We are winning. Keep fighting and most importantly keep PRAYING.

"Actually, I think BO will do more of everything good for the Republican party. "

It was said a long time ago here on FR, that the best thing to do is to leave commiebama alone (within sane limits, of course) and he'll unravel his own ball of yarn.

Behind every strong push is recoil...and the right will recoil big against this kenyan...

Obama's connections on Notre Dame Board of Trustees

Many ND Board members have deep connections to Obama, some nefarious. Here's a sampling from Pewsitter...

Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum from US Senator Obama.

Arthur Velasquez: Received millions in earmarks for the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry from US Senator Obama. Also contributed to Obama's '04 and '08 campaigns.

Ann Claire Williams: Appointed by Bill Clinton in 1999 to the 7th District US Court of Appeals. Ruled against the DOJ in 2004 to subpoena hospital abortion records to enforce the ban on partial birth abortions. Is on list as possible Souter replacement on US Supreme Court.

Philip B. Rooney: Former CEO of Waste Management, Inc., indicted in 2002 with Arthur Andersen and Enron for fraud. WMI settled for $30.8 in penalties. Now barred by SEC from being officer in a public company but retains his position on ND board.

Douglas Tong Hsu (pictured right): Chairman of Far Eastern Group, a 32-billion dollar Chinese conglomerate. Recently stated democratic governance is hindrance to investment while praising communist China's system. Indicted in 2006 for breach of trust and forgery, involving Taiwanese First Lady Wu Shu-chen. In 2006, Fr. Jenkins led a delegation to East Asia, where they met with Hsu and travelled to communist Beijing to develop partner programs for ND.

Dr. Mary Anne Fox: Chancellor at UC San Diego and Vice-Chair of the National Science Board. Recently announced opening of new UCSD for human embryo experimentation.

Robert Conway (pictured left), head of Goldman Sachs (AIG); Philip J. Purcell, former CEO of Morgan Stanley and COO of Dean Witter; Enrique Hernandez Jr., on board of Wells Fargo Bank: All companies recipients of billions in bailout funds and stock purchases and under increasing pressure to appeal to the Obama administration, the Treasury Department, and the US Congress for survival.

Raymond G. Chambers: Serves on the ServiceNation leadership council, a political group that supports the enormous multiplication of federal national service programs in the Obama agenda. This includes the just-passed Kennedy Serve America Act, touted as "the largest expansion of community and national service since the launch of the Civilian Conservation Corps."

Did a single one of those courageous bishops have the guts to set foot on the Notre Dame campus and join the protesters?

Well, yeah, I skipped over it because I don't have plans to contact any of the folks on the list, but if I was Catholic and/or wanted to use the list to alert friends or relatives or contact folks on it (or if I want to do in the future), I appreciate knowing such a list is so easily accessible on FR.

I hope I'm not supposed to feel guilty for skipping over the list!

And dang ya, Big — ;^ — now you got me to look THROUGH the list ... and I'm sad to say I don't see one bishop from California! sigh In a state where the Missions played such a vital role in its history. Salvation, when you update the list (and now I'll pay attention! Even if it's in the big type!), I hope I see some CA bishops on it.

Contact them and ask them why they didn't speak out about Notre Dame's disobedience?

Yes, there is a thread about Bishop John D/Arcy of the Diocese of Notre Dame. He spent an all night vigil there and spoke to a pro-life group?

Do you want to find it, or do you want a link?
